WALL STRRET, SATURDAY, Get. 11-6 P. M.

The stock market to-day, without possessing any startling features, was full of health and resiliency. The fluctuations were natural, and, if there was a strong bear pressure at any time evident, it was generally followed by a rally and recovery, except at the close. It was just such a condition as a prudent investor, having faith in the inture of stock values, would have selected for a cash operation. Another favorable indication of the day was the renewal of dealings by brokers on "margins," showing in a significant manner the return of confidence and a disposition on the part of banks again to accommodate, to a prudent extent, their former customers. Nor was there by half so many wild rumors floating through the air, telling of IMPENDING MISFORTUNE and some other great crash about to occur. On the contrary, the whole tone was cheerful, and men breathed, or seemed to breathe, more freely than they have done at any time since the opening of the Stock Exchange. It is not to be inferred that the market will be confined to its present attitude or that prices will not recede even from present figures, but it may be strongly assured that there are less of powerful and artificial agencies at work to prevent reaction than have existed for a long time. Money is coming out of coffers and getting into its old grooves. Fresh capital is making its way to Wall street. Loans were more easily effected to-day. There was a good line of DEPOSITS IN THE SEVERAL BANKS.

It was also developed that a number of the banks had made no use of the loan certificates of the Clearing House in order to bolster up their strength. The street has been to a considerable extent "weeded out." There are fewer depressing influences, and altogether the atmosphere presents a clearer and more hopeful aspect—that which now justifies the efforts made to destroy the unnatural and purely speculative buoyancy which for a time threatened fresh danger, and to bring the market down to a reasonable basis for successful work-The decline at the close of the market was doubt less due to the desire on the part of many to end the week with clean hands; and yet orders have been left in scores of offices to buy on Monday morning at the closing rates to-night. This, too, is a sign of confidence.

THE COURTS.

Messrs. Edward Gilbert, William F. Kintzing and Charles A. Jackson, the committee appointed by the Judges of the Supreme Court, General Term, for examination of applicants for admission to the Bar, met yesterday and decided to enter on their examining duties at ten A. M. next Saturday, in the room of the General Term. A recent rule of the Court of Appeals relieves this examination from the farcial odium that has heretolore attached to them and closes up to "shysters" all approaches to the Bar. Each applicant must now present a certificate of a respectable attorney of three years' study of law in his office, and such certificates must be previously flied with the Clerk of the Court of Appeals.

SUPREME COURT-CHAMBERS. The Bowery Shooting Affair.

Beiore Judge Barrett.

The facts connected with Oscar Ette, the Bowery photographer, who became engaged in a quarrel with his neighbor, Herman Wachholtz, on the 1st inst., during which he fired a pistol at the latter, inst., during which he fired a pistol at the latter,

wounding him in the breast, were given at the time fully in the fighal. Wochhoitz was taken to Believue Hospital and is now confined there. Ette, as will be remembered, fied from the scene of the occurrence, but subsequently gave himself up, and was committed to the City Prison to await the result of Wachhoitz's injuries.

Mr. William F. Howe, the prisoner's counsel, having sued out a writ oi habeas corpus, the prisoner was yesterday brought before Judge Barrett.
The intention, it is understood, was to move for his discharge, but the hearing in the case was postponed until Monday.

COMMON PLEAS-SPECIAL TERM.

Interesting to Game Dealers.

Before Judge Robinson. A decision on a demurrer was given yesterday in this Court, in the case of Phelps vs. Racey, that is important to dealers in game. The prosecution was for a penalty under the game law or the State, was for a penalty under the game law of the State, which forbids having game in possession at certain times specified in the law. The defence insisted that because the birds were killed at a lawful time and preserved by a patent refrigerator the game law was not really violated. The demurrer was overruled in favor of the detence. The prosecution was represented by Charles E. Whitehead and the defence by John Proffatt. It is understood the prosecution will bring the case to the Court of Appeals.

The Canadian visitors were again victorious, carrying off the 3rst, third and sixth prizes in the sharpshooters' match. STOKES' TRIAL.

Character of the New Panel-Slow Work of Getting a Jury-Only Eight Jurors Obtained.

There does not appear to be a continuation of the success crowning the first day's efforts to obtain a jury in the Stokes case, and from which a speedy completion of the jury was so confidently preficted. Only an additional juryman was obtained esterday, which was but a repetition of the sorry progress made on the day previous, and this, too, with the advantage of a new and much larger panel. There was certainly no lack of vigilant en-deavor by the counsel on both sides to fill the va-

The Court met at ten o'clock, as on the previous day, and, as heretofore, the court room, as well as eant seats in the jury box. .

the corridors and hallway leading to it, was filled by a large and eager crowd, and commendable punctuality characterized everybody—the Judge, counsel, the jurymen already selected, the prisoner and his friends and a large representation of the new panel of 150 summoned to be in attendance. This new panel is almost wholly made up of bankers, prokers and wholesale merchants of the city. Among them were George A, Hearn, Jr., the dry goods merchant; Peter Gilsey, proprictor of the Coleman House; H. W. Grey, the broker; John W. Tilney, banker; William T. Grinnell, broker; John Taylor Jounston, President of the New Jersey Central Railroad; Abraham Wolfe, banker; James C. Fargo, of the firm of Wells, Far-the New Jersey Central Railroad; Abraham Wolfe, banker; James C. Fargo, of the firm of Wells, Fargo & Co.; Benjamin Hezeman, the druggist; Ezra Å. Haight, banker, and many others of equal prominence. One of the accepted jarymen, however, failed to appear. This was Mr. Evan T. Hooper, the third juror. His absence was explained by Judge Davis, who stated that, owing to peculiar circumstances, both parties had consented to excuse him. The peculiar circumstance was reported to be that a suicide, or supposed suicide, was committed in his hotel, making it peculiarly desirable that he should be home.

Of the new panel it was found, on their names being called by Mr. Sparks, the Clerk, that only ninety-six answered—a result leaving a pretty broad margin for possible inture fines.

To give all the names of those called up for examination as to their fitness to sit as jurors in the case would be simply printing a pocket edition of the Chy Directory. As to the questions they were only a repetition of those put to the previous jurors, it was necessarily slow and tedious work. Most had formed and expressed opinions of the prisoner's guilt, and doubted their ability to consider the evidence impartially, and, of course, had to be set aside as incompetent. At length one was found, Mr. Horatio N. Gray, who sain he had formed an opinion, but plainly avowed that his opinion would not influence his verdict. He said further, that he was not acquainted with Gould or Tweed, and did not wish to be, and that he had never seen any of the parties in the case. Having milliled all the desirable requisites, Mr. Gray was sworn in as the eighth juror. This was the only juror obtained during the day, and at half-pust two P. M. the Court adjournent Judge Davis repeated, however, his previous words of caution to the jury thus far obtained:—Thomas White Bartholomew, engineer, No. 439 East Fifty-seventh street: Joseph Hauch, provisions, No. 32 avenue A; Evan Townsend Hooper, proprietor of the Crittenden Hotel; Edward Stanley Calboun, harness deale
